DRAFT CONCEPT NOTE AND AGENDA

Date	19 - 20 March 2025
Venue	Cape Town, South Africa and online
Background	Africa faces significant challenges in achieving Sustainable Development Goal 6 (SDG 6) - ensuring the availability and sustainable management of water and sanitation for all. Despite progress, over 300 million Africans still lack access to clean drinking water, and over 700 million live without access to good sanitation. The latest estimates suggest that the continent requires approximately USD 50 billion annually to achieve water security by 2030, yet current investments fall short at USD 10 - 19 billion per year. This investment gap threatens to derail aspirations for ensuring equitable and sustainable use of water for socioeconomic development in Africa, as referenced in the Africa Water Vision for 2025. Climate change exacerbates the situation, potentially leading to increased water scarcity, food insecurity, energy insecurity, and rise in conflict. The main barriers to investments in water include: the significant funding gap between the required and actual investments; governance issues including inadequate water policies, regulations, and multi-sectoral strategies; limited implementation capacity and shortage of bankable projects; the insufficient focus on climate-resilient water infrastructure; and the relatively low private sector engagement in water projects. Ensuring that water investments in Africa are climate resilient and socially inclusive is the main challenge for Africa. The huge gap in water investments necessitates priority actions. The African Union-AIP Water Investment Summit 2025 is scheduled to take place in August 2025 in Cape Town, South Africa. Convened within the context of South Africa's G20 Presidency, the Summit aims to elevate the political and economic status of water investments, to enable the continent to mobilise at least USD 30 billion annually for climate-resilient water and sanitation initiatives. The Summit aligns with the broader G20 agenda on economic growth, climate sustainability, and enhanced financing for development. As part of the preparation for this high-level Summit, a Preparatory Meeting will be held in March 2025 on the sidelines of the International Water Association (IWA) Congress in Cape Town. This preparatory meeting will bring together key stakeholders, including government representatives, international development agencies, private sector

	investors, and civil society organizations, to refine the objectives, thematic areas, and expected outcomes of the Summit. The meeting will serve as a platform to consolidate partnerships, finalize the Summit's concept, and engage with prospective speakers, panellists, and moderators. Additionally, it will ensure that the Summit aligns with South Africa's G20 Presidency goals and effectively contributes to water security and investment mobilization in Africa. The March 2025 Preparatory Meeting is therefore a crucial step in ensuring the successful delivery of the AU-AIP Water Investment Summit in August 2025. By aligning stakeholder efforts, securing commitments, and refining the Summit's focus, this meeting will lay the groundwork for transformative investments in Africa's water sector. The outcomes of this engagement will directly influence the Summit's agenda and reinforce Africa's commitment to addressing its water security challenges within the global development framework.
